

Visual comfort the light that allows humans to see. Mirrors aren't the only reflective surfaces that can be used in interior design. There are other reflective surfaces such as metallic finishes, glass, and polished stone. The color of the surface impacts the frequency of the vision that is being reflected.