New Client Investigation Before accepting a new client, most CPA firms investigate the company to determine its acceptability.Many of these businesses fail financially and expose the CPA firm to significant potential liability.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com