

The creation of the carbon footprint management application is not only a technical achievement but also a proof that technology can be used to solve urgent environmental issues.