

Some people are investing in and developing space tourism technology, believing that space tourism will be the next big thing.