

Aron Ralston is a climber. He has been climbing and hiking since he was a young boy. Aron made a mistake on 26th April 2003, nearly cost him his life. Aron was hiking when he fell down. His right arm got trapped behind a rock. He tried to escape, but the rock was too big. Aron was stuck in the canyon for five and a half days. He was hungry, thirsty and very tired. On his sixth day, he managed to break his arm and then cut it off with the small knife he had. He hiked out of the canyon and finally saw other people. They called the emergency services, and a helicopter took him to the hospital. Aron lost his arm, but he's happy to be alive. He still climbs and hikes regularly. Now he makes sure he tells others when he's going on an adventure.
