Almost anyone can use augmented reality on their mobile phone; all you need is an app that offers augmented reality features. Some apps may require other features, such as GPS or Wi–Fi, virtually. Most recent devices support for augmented reality that delivered at the operating system level such as iOS and android