

In the end, the most compelling media form for each of us relies on personal preference and the type of experience wanted.