

Computer programs for individual processes/functions such as inventory control, accounts receivable, or human resource management. No overall map, plan, or model guided application growth. Three of the computer applications based on this file processing approach are shown in next slide. The systems are Order Filling, Invoicing, and Payroll.