

They are used in sentences where a subject is compared to a group of objects.