

We mostly went to our village with our mother during our summer and winter vacations. However, once my aunt and cousins also accompanied us. This was one of the best train journeys of my life. We chatted, cracked jokes and laughed heartily as we ate snacks. We took the top berth after having the delicious biryani which our mother had cooked for us. We had already planned that we will stay awake until late at night to enjoy the journey in each other's company. We stealthily took out chips and biscuits from our bags. As we finished a game or two, two boys sitting in the middle berth asked us if they could join us. Playing cards is always fun with more players. After playing cards, we began a game of dumb charades. Since, we had been playing for almost four hours now, we felt hungry and it was snack time. This journey gave us memories to cherish forever. We began the fun by playing cards.