

An unmanned autonomous pesticide spraying robot shown in Figure.2 was created by Hirayama, K. et al. It uses line traces to move between the ridges in the greenhouse and uses ultrasonic sensors to estimate the distance to crops and image recognition to spray pesticides.