

To search for a relevant image from an archive is a challenging research problem for computer vision research community.