

Plastics are a wide range of synthetic or semi-synthetic materials that use polymers as a main ingredient. Most modern plastics are derived from fossil fuel-based chemicals like natural gas or petroleum; however, recent industrial methods use variants made from renewable materials, such as corn or cotton derivatives.[1]