

In conclusion, being the boss of your own business also has disadvantages as it limits community relations and poor communication due to the overload of activity and handling activities at the same time, which may affect individual performance and organizational performance accordingly.