

Libraries play a great role in meeting the information needs of users. This study aims to assess the using of applications in libraries and how it affects in modern librarianship. It also discusses the benefits of this technology for both librarian and users.