

David Jardel has experienced this first hand. "I've always felt bad about the part I played in his decision to leave"