

According to Misra et al. (2011), hyperlipidemia is associated with elevated oxidative stress, which causes a notable amount of oxygen free radicals to be produced.