

In the past, advertisements were usually designed to reach people in their homes through traditional ways, like TV, newspaper and magazine ads. They are in magazines, on buses, on billboards, online and on buildings.