

The thrill of outsmarting security systems and returning cultural treasures to their rightful places would be my guilty pleasure.