

When the spores land on wet apple foliage, they germinate and penetrate the leaf tissue, especially in temperatures between 60°F and 75°F (15°C to 24°C).