Iraqi National Day is a nationally recognized celebration that takes place annually in Iraq on the 3rd day of October.The streets are lined with vendors selling traditional crafts and foods, which provide a taste of the country's diverse regional cuisines.Afterwards, there are vibrant displays of traditional dance, music performances, and local cuisine, painting a picture of Iraq's rich cultural heritage.There are numerous family-friendly events such as cultural exhibitions, sporting competitions, and fireworks displays.This significant event commemorates Iraq's independence from the United Kingdom, which was officially recognized on October 3, 1932.