

Two friends have different views on the issue of allowing mobile phones to be brought into school, as each of them tries to convince the other of her opinion.