

Osteoporosis is a major health concern in this country. Although primary osteoporosis is different in origin from the osteoporosis that results from immobility, it is imperative for nurses to recognize that immobilized patients are at high risk for accelerated bone loss if they have primary osteoporosis.