

The Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) are a set of 17 interconnected goals adopted by the 193 member countries of the United Nations General Assembly in 2015.