

Dispersal is an action performed by an individual (Johnson and Gaines 1990). An animal either disperses or remains within its maternal home range.