

During the usability test, we engaged a diverse group of participants from various age groups and specializations, including chemical, engineering, and nutrition fields. The test highlighted a few areas for improvement.