

Reassurance is better than just talking (you're getting better, you're a nice person, your fears are unfounded).