

Globalization is a new kind of colonialism which represents a real threat to national identities. They think that it helps people to know other cultures to become open-minded and tolerant. Some people think that globalization effects the world negatively for many reasons. Then, it is a new kind of colonialism.