

It is in these moments of discomfort and uncertainty that we learn who we are and what we are capable of achieving.