

AD is a neurodegenerative condition characterized by cognitive and behavioral decline, which greatly disrupts social and work-related activities.