One of the main reasons the British migrated from New England to colonial America was because they were looking for economic opportunities.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com