

'At a typical football match, we are likely to see players committing deliberate fouls, often behind the referee's back.