

Angel Reese joins forces with WNBA stars for Unrivaled League. the latest buzz from the women's basketball world, the much-anticipated launch of Unrivaled has set the stage for an electrifying off-season league. Paige Bueckers, a standout NCAA star, is also set to join after her college career, adding even more star power to the roster. Players accustomed to the traditional 5x5 format will find the 3x3 games thrilling and challenging, pushing them to elevate their skills. Scheduled to debut in January 2025, Unrivaled has already attracted top talent.