

Connect up the apparatus and play around with the voltage until you see two well defined rings. Using one of your diameter measurements, determine the electron momentum.