

Probation Period: This period allows the employer to assess the employee's professional competence and the employee to determine if the offered job is suitable.