

Most persons who have developed who are susceptible to developing behavioral disorders have difficulties with their reality checking mechanisms.