

Biomolecules o Biomolecules are formed by joining many small units together to form a long chain .