

Nest boxes are increasingly sold at gardening centres and online (MacIvor and Packer 2015). Incorporating nest boxes into gardening practises that support pollinators could increase efforts of citizens to aid in data collection and enhance conditions for wild bees (Everaars et al. 2011).