

Making everyone deal with an institution that signs contracts designed to reduce company risk can create an atmosphere where everyone is in trouble.