

Religious Affairs: 1– By the end of his reign the devotion of god Amen flourished, and Amenhotep I was considered as the titular god which means the god of virtue. Later on, during the Ramesside era 19th, 20th and 21st dynasties he was also deified as god of the necropolis, because he was loved by his people during his reign; while in his temple in Deir–Medina, where he practiced all his rituals, he was worshiped by the priests and the workers.
