Conclusion To conclude that, can success be achieved in projects without good planning?Teamwork and continuous communication are also important to ensure success in project management.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com