

9.They set clear boundaries, explain consequences, and have open conversations to understand why their kids acted that way..