Data: raw facts Information: collection of data organized in such a way that they have value beyond the facts themselves Process: set of logically related tasks performed to achieve a defined outcome Turning data into information is a process Knowledge: awareness and understanding of a set of information and the ways it can be made useful to support a task The process of defining relationships among data to create useful information requires knowledge

Summarized by © lakhasly.com