

The Gantt chart outlines the project timeline, starting with the first meeting with supervisors and proceeding through key stages such as research, problem definition, literature review, risk assessment, potential solutions, and final reporting. Each task is assigned a duration, with project completion expected by early January 2025.