

Place important information at the top. When prompting customers online to scroll for important content, they may choose to skip it and potentially leave without noticing your business's key features.