

I am a travel enthusiastic person, hence I have travelled to a lot of places and countries, whether it be for business purposes or just a vacation. The sand was the most pleasing thing, me and my siblings would make castles with the sand and spend time trying to explore their culture. We visited all the sightseeing places like cliffs, old monuments, caves, camping sites and wildlife preserved park, etc. We swam in the freshwater pools and did fishing at the lakes. The shores of these islands are spectacular and win the heart of all the tourists. But recently I visited an island named Andaman and Nicobar during the fall season.
