However, when considering the broader context of gender and race inequity within the management team, it raises concerns about equal representation and diversity.

Summarized by © lakhasly.com