

Pollution poses a dual threat to both human populations and the delicate ecosystems that sustain life on Earth.