

Because often, if I love someone, I will not tell him about it for fear that the love is not mutual.