

The dotted line in the organizational chart is not a real part of the chart itself. Its purpose is solely to highlight the intended pyramid structure of the organization.